Hancock landfill buffer location inching closer

BY ED LEPOMA

Hancock County's Regional Solid Waste Authority is inching towards some kind of decision on where to locate a future landfill.

The six-member Authority met in regular session Wednesday afternoon, but immediately moved to go into executive session to discuss "contract negotiations."

The Board emerged more than an hour later, and Chairman Rocky Pullman told the Echo later that the two principals who hope to construct and operate a combination landfill/rubbish sites at two separate sites in the vast buffer zone surrounding the giant Stennis Space Center were given extensive questionnaires. The questions were a consensus of concerns that had come out of previous closed-door workshops Authority members have had since receiving both proposals last June.

Pullman said the Authority plans to reconvene in a closed-door workshop beginning at 10 a.m. on Tuesday, and will question each developer individually, one during a morning session and another in an afternoon session.

After talking with Pullman, the Echo also learned from another source that during part of Wednesday's executive session, Authority members had a telephone conference with Dr. Dennis Traux of Mississippi State University. The Authority hired Traux last August, agreeing to pay him a $2,500 fee to look into both proposals.

Traux apparently has finished his review of the proposals, and his recommendations are expected to be made public shortly after the meeting with developers Tuesday.

At stake is a lucrative contract for whomever is chosen to handle Hancock County's household waste for the next 20 years.

Curtis Johnson, who now owns the county's only permitted Class I rubbish site located off Hwy. 43 and Fire Tower Road, has proposed a 660-acre tract as the site for a future landfill. It is approximately three miles past the junctions of Hwy. 603 and 43, and accessible from Cuevas Town Road.

And, Hattiesburg developer Dr. Bennett York and his daughter, Paige, have proposed

Septic tank relief sought coast-wide

BY ED LEPOMA

Citizens along the Coast are looking to the state legislature and health department to find ways to develop property where septic tanks are not now allowed.

A panel of state senators assembled in Long Beach Thursday night and planned to meet Friday at the USM Gulf Park campus with city and county officials. The suggestions at the public forums are expected to be the basis for any new septic tank regulation or relaxation of current rules adopted in the upcoming January legislative meeting.

The citizens at Thursday night's meeting complained that the health department won't permit traditional septic tanks in certain flood-prone areas along the Coast, and as a result they pay taxes on property they own, but can't build anything on it. Developers complain they can't expand into unserved areas unless they spend thousands to build an individualized treatment system.

Residents want the state legislature to come up with alternative sewerage treatment systems, and find a way to help pay for the expansion of existing sewer systems along the Coast.

Smolensky elected to a fifth term

BY BETSY GAGNET

In 1978, when Louis Smolensky won his first election as alderman for the City of Waveland, his daughter Sara was six months old.

Last Tuesday, when Smolensky won his fifth term as alderman, his daughter Sara voted in the election.

Smolensky will be the only familiar face on the new Board of Aldermen next term. Ward 1 Alderman Tommy Longo is in the race for mayor, incumbent Ward 2 Alderman Jay Fleuriot was defeated in the Republican primary by Peter Gondrella and Ward 4 Alderman Al Kingston, Jr. did not seek reelection.

"It feels good. I'm very proud," said Smolensky after the results were read Tuesday night. "I appreciate the people who went out and voted for me."

Smolensky joins a very select group of citizens who have been elected to the Board of Aldermen five times. Albert N. Grass was also elected five times, serving from 1958 to 1978.

Although the city has seen a lot of progress over the years, Smolensky said the work continues.

"There's a lot of things left to be done," he said. "I will work to the best of my ability for the next four years."

County school board briefed on construction

BY B.R. HAWKINS

Reports from their construction manager and architect occupied the majority of the Hancock County School Board's agenda on Monday.

Construction manager Doug Necaise brought board members up to speed on a number of construction projects at each of the district's schools.

Necaise focused his report on the new construction at the elementary school and progress at the middle school. The board took no action on a request from GM&R, contractor at the elementary school, for the addition of rain days to his contract and accepted a bid from Moran Hauling for construction of a water line on the site. Moran was low bidder at $37,998.

Necaise reported storm damage district-wide was assessed at $13,393. The deductible for the district is $25,000. Necaise said FEMA applications have been made, and the district is waiting for assistance.

Additionally, the Board approved payment requests to GM&R for $222,931 for work completed at the new middle school and $78,472 for work completed at the middle school.

Payments were also approved to Starks Contracting Company in the amount of $112,200 for work at Charles B. Murphy Elementary School and to Saad & Cooke Corporation in the amount of $23,770 and to Associated Food Equipment in the amount of $106,774 for work and equipment at Gulfview Elementary.

Board members accepted a $30,000 grant for the Safe and Drug Free Schools for the Pass cleanup progressing

BY ED LEPOMA

The cleanup from Hurricane Georges continues in Pass Christian, but the consultant overseeing the pickup of tree limbs and leaves said progress is being made.

At Wednesday night's meeting, the Board of Aldermen approved partial payment to the contractor selected to coordinate the cleanup.

Consulting engineer John Campton of Garner Russell Associates, told Mayor Billy McDonald and Aldermen there will be a final sweep once the majority of the initial debris is picked up. "I'm satisfied over what I see," said Campton.

Under an agreement signed Oct. 15, Joseph A. Yates of Waveland, working in association with C.W. Parker of Waveland, was awarded a contract for $69,200 to coordinate the cleanup, and the Board agreed to now pay the contractors $31,140 or 40 percent of the contract price, although Campton estimated about 50 percent of the debris has been picked up. Another 10 percent will be paid once 75 percent of the debris has been picked up.

The remainder 50 percent of the money will be held until the

Hung jury in trial

BY ED LEPOMA

Circuit Court Judge Robert Harry Walker declared a mistrial Wednesday after jurors were unable to reach a unanimous verdict on murder charges filed against Ray Burcham, 69, of Kiln.

Burcham is accused of shooting to death Johnny Thigpen, 33, during a domestic argument at a Labor Day cookout in 1997.

The state presented six witnesses, and Burcham claimed self-defense during the two-day trial. The all-white jury of seven men and five women deliberated nearly five hours before reaching a 9-3 vote, and Walker declared a mistrial.

Assistant District Attorney Larry Bourgeois said he planned to retry Burcham again, with the case possibly coming back to court next January.

REFLECTIONS ON LIFEBy Father Jerome LeDoux, SVDDo I have to?

"Do I have to go to Sunday services?" is heard so often that it suggests a clear majority of people go to church only because of the motivation of avoiding punishment. They don't thank and praise God unless their arm is twisted.

A rephrasing of that question is: "Has God done so much good for me that I have an obligation to give thanks to God in public? Is God so good, so kind and merciful that I should be coerced to praise, to worship, to glorify God in public?"

If people realized how ugly, ignorant and presumptuous that question is, they would never dare ask it. Instead of questioning what they perceive as coercion, they would be giving thanks for the sheer privilege of thanks and praise.

"Do I have to keep the ten commandments?" is the question which often segues the previous. These questions are asked as if God has all to gain here and we nothing. But the reverse is true. We need God totally. God needs us not at all.

Of course, if you don't believe in God, the discussion is all academic. If you don't believe God is out there, in here and everywhere around, what does it matter whether you give thanks, praise or worship to a figment of the imagination?

So, if you question your obligation to attend Sunday services, to thank and praise God, or keep the commandments, you are testing not the worthiness of God, but your own faith. You had better listen carefully to your own questions.

A most unfortunate twist to the lack of faith situation is the admission by some that their reason for attending church services is social or economic or simply utilitarian.

"It's the respectful thing to do," is sometimes heard.

Or, as one man told me, "My name on a check or document means something when people know that I attend church services." Church attendance, then, is a simple guarantee.

So, big numbers of faithless humans are tossed between the poles of false respect and insipid obligations. "I should," for false respect; "Do I have to?" for insipid obligation.

In reality, you don't have to do anything. You don't even have to go to heaven. You can just go to hell if you want to. And, of course, there are myriads of people everywhere who will be willing confederates, helping you to hell on skates.

The list of what you have to do is extremely short and so abrupt that it hurts. Traditionally, we say that the only sure things are death and taxes. However, there is an alternative to paying taxes. You can choose jail instead of taxes.

"Do I have to?" sneaks into every other arena of life, notably among spouses, parents and children. Instead of a generous, loving "I want to with all my heart" we often betray our selfishness with a "Do I have to?"

Although it seems to surprise us, it should not surprise us that we treat each other the same way we treat God. The "Do I have to?" which we throw at God is no different from the "Do I have to?" which we inflict on one another.

This removes all the mystery from what Jesus commanded us to do, equating our love of each other with our love for him for his Father and their Holy Spirit.

"As the Father loves me, so I also love you. Remain in my love. This is my commandment; love one another as I love you" (John 15:9,12).

Student doing well following surgeryBY B. R. HAWKINS

Coast Episcopal student Dillan Ladner, son of Larry and Vickie Ladner of Bay St. Louis, is reported doing well following surgery Wednesday for a tumor at Children's Hospital in New Orleans.

The first-grader whose grandmother, Sharon Reid, is a preschool teacher at Coast Episcopal, complained of headaches and nausea Monday. Results of a biopsy on Tuesday revealed that Dillan suffered from a fast-growing tumor located on the muscles behind his eye.

Coast Episcopal Principal Merry Montjoy said that Dillan was doing well following the surgery.

"He is such an upbeat child," Montjoy said, "Our prayers and thoughts are with him and his family."

Forum addresses global economy

Influences on today's global farm economy were the focus of the first annual Owen Cooper Cooperative Executive Forum recently at Mississippi State University.

Agribusinessman and Southern States, Inc. chief executive officer Dr. Wayne Boutwell addressed five elements agribusiness must deal with to be successful in today's global economy.

The MSU graduate said today's agriculture faces an increasing world population, a reduction in agricultural trade, technology and biotechnology developments and urbanization. Farmers will have to be competitive and learn to handle the instability of a global market.

"To compete in a global market, farmers can no longer produce at the farm price because in a global economy someone somewhere is going to do it cheaper," Boutwell said. "Most farmers don't have the necessary capital to produce global products and are forming cooperatives to remain competitive."

Located in Richmond, Va., Southern States provides farmers with supplies for farming, lawn and gardening, pets and horses, and fuel services. Cooperatives such as Southern States, Delta Pride Catfish, Ocean Spray and Land O' Lakes are farmer-owned organizations managed by farmer boards of directors.

Boutwell received the Owen Cooper Distinguished Lecturer Medallion.

Cooper, a 1929 graduate of MSU, was a leader in agricultural business. He founded Mississippi Chemical Corp. in Yazoo City to produce and distribute agricultural chemicals. When organized in 1948, Mis-issippi Chemical was the first farmer-owned nitrogen production cooperative in the world. He company manufactures primary crop nutrients, including nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium, and has grown to be one of the country's leading producers of fertilizers.

The forum was hosted by the Agribusiness Institute at MSU, which provides educational, research and technology programs to help agribusinesses grow and flourish.

Restoration in process

Garden club hosts luncheon, market for grave restoration

BY B. R. HAWKINS

Restoration of the gravesite of the great-granddaughter of Martha and great-niece of General George Washington, Frances Parke Lewis Butler, in the Live Oaks Cemetery, has been the focus of the Pass Christian Garden Club for a number of years.

Renewed interest in the civic project and assistance from Harrison County Supervisor David LaRosa and his crew has made significant progress in recent weeks.

The club recently cleared and cleaned the site. LaRosa and his crews repaired wrought iron fencing and the metal marker. The club has scheduled a fund raiser featuring a luncheon and an open market Thursday, Nov. 19, 10 a.m.-2 p.m. in the West Harrison County Civic Center, 4470 Espy Avenue, Long Beach.

The market will feature artists and merchants from New Orleans, Covington, William Carey College, Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Pass Christian and Biloxi.

"We have artists and jewelry makers attending the market, as well as some of the wonderful shops here in the Pass and from the Bay," said Pam Williams, president of the garden club. For ticket information, contact Etta Williams at 452-3547.

Williams said there are historic accounts of relatives of Washington living and working in the Coast area as far back as the early 1800's. She said during the early 1800's, Henry Washington was a land surveyor and a map maker.

One of the properties he surveyed was the Pellerin deed which encompassed the hole peninsula of Pass Christian ranging from Henderson Point to the center of Long Beach. According to Nap Cassibry, Henry was possibly a nephew of George Washington.

Still another descendant of Washington is remembered with an historic marker denoting her grave site. She was Frances Parke Lewis Butler, great-granddaughter of Martha Washington and great-niece of General George Washington.

Mrs. Butler was the daughter of Nellis Custis and Lawrence Lewis and the wife of Edward G. W. Butler Jr., killed at the battle of Belmont, Mo. Nov. 7, 1861; and the daughter of Caroline, wife of William Turnbull. She died Sept. 16, 1876.

During unveiling ceremonies at the Trinity Episcopal Church ground in Pass Christian, the official family honoree was Richard Morgan of Gulfport, himself a direct descendant of John Washington, an uncle of General Washington.

The club has worked in conjunction with the Gulf Coast Chapter of the DAR chapter to attend and care for the grave site.

"CUEVAS" QUOTES

By Ellis C. Cuevas

The primary elections are now over in Waveland with the exception of Ward One with a run-off set for Tuesday, Nov. 17.

In the general election there is only one Chancery Court judgeship to be settled with a run-off also set for Tuesday, Nov. 17.

The Waveland General Election will be Tuesday, December 1, to decide who will represent the city for the coming four years.

Congratulations to all candidates who took time and effort to seek a position in Waveland. The election process is what makes America the great country it is.

Best of luck to all candidates still in the running. Political signs are among the ways some candidates campaign for elections. There are times when candidates seem to forget to have their signs removed after an election is over, and some stay around for months and in some extreme cases years.

I would like to urge all candidates, whose race has been settled or are no longer in the running, to collect their signs.

Thanks for your assistance in helping us in trying to make our communities litter free.

Beginning tomorrow, Monday, Nov. 9, is the second and final phase of collection of trees, limbs, etc. from Hurricane Georges by contractors in Hancock County, Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Diamondhead.

This means that if residents have hurricane debris still on their properties, they need to get it out on the shoulder of the road so it can be collected.

This will be the final cleanup of the storm's debris, I am told.

You do not want to miss the Diamondhead Business & Professional Association's Business After Hours on Thursday, Nov. 12, 5 to 7 p.m. at Hancock Bank's Diamondhead Branch.

A military exhibit of World War II will be held this week at the Bay St. Louis Depot.

The City of Bay St. Louis will host the exhibit with an opening reception for veterans of all wars on Wednesday, Nov. 11, 7 to 9 p.m.

All veterans from all wars are invited and encouraged to attend.

On Thursday and Friday the big exhibit will be open for sixth, eighth and tenth grade students. Schools may book one of eight slots by contacting Mike Cuevas, 463-7120.

On Saturday, the military exhibit will be open to the general public from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

For further information, see page 1-B of this issue of The Echo.

An open house will be held at the Waveland American Legion Post 77's home on Wednesday, Veterans Day, at 10 a.m.

Post 77's Auxiliary Unit members will serve refreshments following the ceremony.

This, too, is a good time to show your veterans that you appreciate what they have given up for your freedoms in this country.

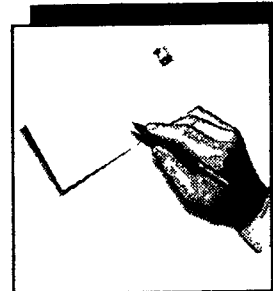

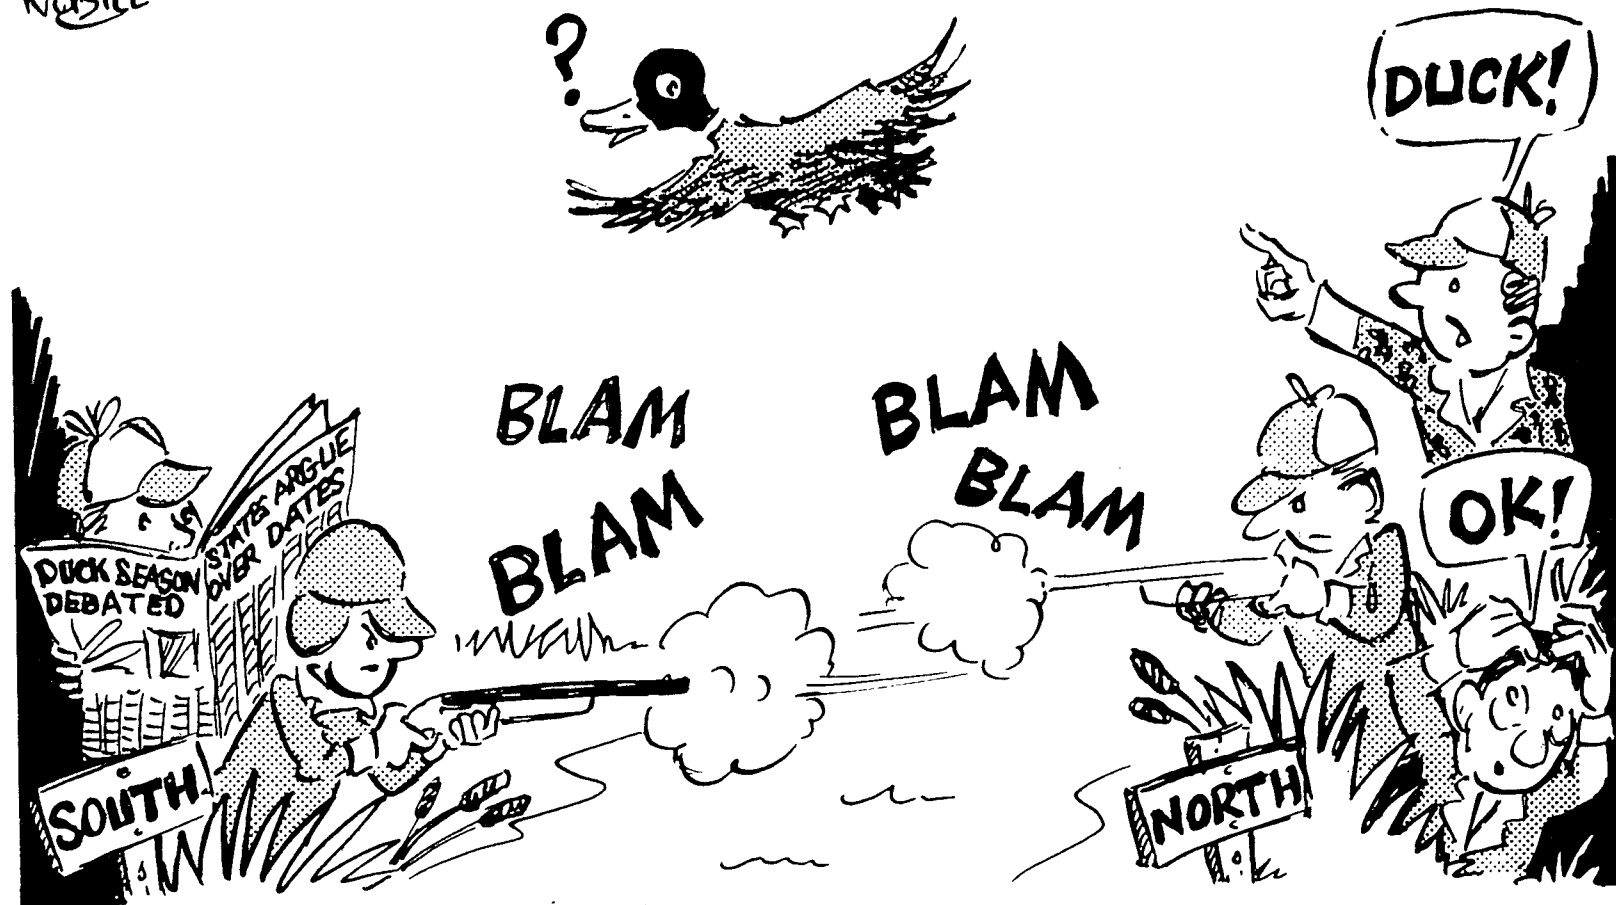

Thanksgiving is fast approaching, and each year Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church St. Vincent de Paul Society sponsors food baskets for deserving residents.

This is the final week for applications, which will be taken in Our Lady of the Gulf Rectory Conference Room, from 9 a.m. until noon, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday, Nov. 10, 11, and 13.

Each year the St. Vincent de Paul Society helps make Thanksgiving a pleasant day for many deserving families of the area.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Hancock grad appalled by lack of fan support for team

To the Editor:

I am extremely disappointed in the lack of support for the current football team at Hancock High School.

As a '98 graduate and a close friend of the Hawk's head coach, Rocky Gaudin and the rest of the football staff, I am shocked at the negativity displayed at our games.

As a former trainer for HHS, I have seen both winning and losing seasons. Throughout the years, I have learned there are fans who are with you while winning or losing.

Also, I have experienced fans who love you when you are winning and criticize the coaches when you are losing. This season has pointedly shown me just how ugly fans (pardon the pun) can be.

I have sat in the stands along with the wives of the coaching staff while the staff has endured horrible ridicule. Fans have continually shouted unnecessary comments at Coach Gaudin and his staff.

Needless to say, this is very upsetting and quite hurtful to those who so willingly dedicate their lives to the school and its youth.

These are the types of fans we can do without. These coaches do everything in their power to help this team win. Despite what certain fans say, I think Coach Gaudin is the right man for the job. I would rather be coached by Rocky Gaudin and have a 0-10 record than be 10-0 and be coached by someone else.

A special commendation goes out to the coaches and their wives for having the strength, dignity and professionalism in their ability to deal with negativity of the disappointed crowd.

Spiritual encouragement for parents of special children

It was the true light that enlightens every man who comes into the world.

(John 1:9)

Dear Friends,

Since my daughter, Sofia, was diagnosed five years ago (with pervasive developmental disorder with autistic traits), I have read many books and articles, attended many workshops and consulted many professionals in my efforts to help her.

I am grateful for the understanding and therapeutic tools I have received through those sources.

Yet I have never attended a workshop which offered a treatment for the despair I have felt in the face of Sofia's seemingly insurmountable problems. I have never met a professional who could replace the anxiety in my heart with trust.

The only writing that was given me piece is God's Word, and God is the only Physician, the only Counselor, who has been able to "grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, the courage to change the things I can, and the wisdom to know the difference" (Serenity Prayer).

This letter is my attempt to share some of that peace, some of that courage, some of that wisdom with other parents who are hungry for God's consolation and strength.

He has blessed me so abundantly. He is "my shield, my glory... He 'lifts up my head' (Psalm 3:4) when I am down, and I know that He is eager to lift up the hearts of all who need Him.

The name of this letter comes from a dream I had a couple years ago. In it a man was giving a talk. In his talk he said that what gives a person dignity is his ability to speak.

As the mother of a then 7-year-old child with very limited ability to communicate with words, I was indignant about his statement. I emphatically told him, "No, that's not true! What gives a person dignity is the spark of God in her!"

When I awakened, I was excited and uplifted by the knowledge that God had revealed to me through that dream. I had been going through a period of extreme discouragement, of doubting my daughter's ability to learn or to progress in her development.

When I awoke from that dream, I realized the truth of a statement made by a "mentally retarded" child, who said, "I may be mentally retarded, but I'm not stupid!"

How could anyone with the indwelling "spark of God" be lacking in intelligence or the ability to grow? The lack is in our faith in God's power to provide the means for our child to grow. The lack is in our hope in our child's future. Yet, when we turn to God, we "shall not want." He will provide all of the gifts that we need.

May God open our eyes to His spark in our children and in ourselves. When our lives seem darkest, may we keep our eyes on that spark wherever He reveals it to us. Amen.

P.S. After reading this letter, please pass it on to someone you think will welcome it. Feel free to copy and circulate it. If you would like to receive it, to share your own words of encouragement, or to communicate with me for any reason, you may write me at the following address:

Organization's president says county should not pay for private company's collections

To the Editor:

Shocking and unfair state laws Mississippi Code 19-5-18 allows the Board of Supervisors to assign and extend all rights and privileges available to the county for collection of delinquent garbage fees to a private contractor who has been given a contract to collect the county garbage.

This means the board can set up a hearing process and hire a hearing officer, use our tax collectors to help a private company collect delinquent fees.

The tax collectors are required to withhold tags until they are paid.

Citizens Protecting Rights is a chartered organization in Jones County working to protect the rights of people and try to have some effect in better government.

We feel, and so does the Mississippi Tax Collectors Association, that the taxpayers and public offices should not be used to help a private company in this manner.

We have been able to get representative Joe Ellzey of Jones County to help us get this law amended. In January of this year he introduced Bill 1043, but it was not passed.

We plan to keep trying to get this bill passed, but as you know, it takes a lot of voice from the people. We are asking for support. Please contact your Senators and Representatives.

Veterans' education benefits not just for the classroom

It seems that many veterans are unaware that their GI Bill benefits can be used for Apprenticeships and On-the-Job Training (OJT) programs. Apprenticeship and OJT programs may be somewhat different from what is considered the "traditional" educational program approved for veterans. Many mistakenly believe that VA educational benefits are to be used "just for college."

Perhaps the greatest difference between traditional educational programs and Apprenticeship/OJT, is the great variety of programs. These include everything from such long-standing programs as electrician, plumber and carpenter, to many others such as deputy sheriff, boat mechanic or parts room clerk.

Those persons who are eligible for Veterans Education Benefits should not overlook the Apprenticeship or the On-the-Job training program. The following is a brief summary of the key elements of an approvable Apprenticeship and OJT program:

1. The job objective must be an entry-level position.
2. The trainees are paid wages, which are determined by a set salary. Commissions are not allowable unless the program is approved as an Apprenticeship. Periodic wage increases are required, demonstrating that the trainee is progressing at a satisfactory rate. These rate increases are determined by the employer and are periodically reviewed by the State Approving Agency (SAA).

3. The trainee must be under direct supervision.

4. The training program must be at least 6 months in length and not more than 24 months for OJT; and generally from 1 to 4 years for Apprenticeship.

5. The job objective must be a full-time position of at least 30 hours per week.

6. Trainees are required to maintain work records. These records are maintained at the training site and are reported to the business monthly and to the SAA quarterly.

7. The VA will administer educational benefits only to those eligible persons who are enrolled in a program approved by the SAA.

8. The SAA conducts on-site visitations to all approved programs to ensure a quality program for all of those involved. Program requirements, including work records and wage schedules are also reviewed during an on-site visitation.

This is but a brief summary of Apprenticeship and OJT programs and the requirements for approval by the SAA. All requests for approval are received on an individual basis with the above criteria used as a guideline.

While a college education is truly a viable option for educational benefits, Apprenticeship and OJT programs should not be discounted. For further information, contact:

Waveland sailor helps make America powerful under the sea

Without dedicated Sailors like Waveland's William L. Crabtree, the Navy's fleet of high-tech, nuclear submarines would never prowl the underwater world. They patrol the seas unseen, unheard and most of the time undetected.

As America increasingly worries about international crisis the submarine's stealthiness will play a key role in accurately striking long range targets with Tomahawk cruise missiles.

Navy Chief Petty Officer Crabtree, the 31-year-old son of James and Claudia Crabtree of Waveland, serves aboard one of these powerful nuclear attack submarines. The USS Tucson (SSN 770) homeported in Pearl Harbor, is one of 72 submarines patrolling the high seas.

Crabtree is a mechanic who operates and maintains the steam turbines used to power the sub. Crabtree derives much satisfaction from being a member of one of the Navy's elite underwater phantoms.

"The most rewarding aspect of my job is that makes me feel great about myself," said Crabtree, a 1984 graduate of Harrison Central High School.

The USS Tucson, a Los Angeles class nuclear-powered submarine, was commissioned in August 1995. Its missions include cruise missile launches, anti-surface ship warfare, shallow-water operations, protecting carrier battle groups, special operations with SEALs and mine warfare.

The sailors of Tucson routinely embark on six-month-long cruises. Crabtree and other members help the overall mission by understanding the need for these extended periods overseas.

"It's important to deploy naval forces overseas to maintain a presence in all countries to keep the free world free and to keep all others in check," said Crabtree, a 13-year Navy veteran.

The lengthy overseas deployments and high-attention-to-detail work makes Crabtree's job both demanding and challenging. With these challenges come maturity and growth, both of which Crabtree has experienced much of since joining the Navy.

"In my Navy career I have been given every opportunity to advance and now my acceptance to the LDO (Limited Duty Officer) program my commissioning (as a Naval Officer) is in January 1999," Crabtree said.

As long as Crabtree and the rest of the Tucson keep their submarine operating proficiently, the Navy will continue to operate covertly while defending the interests of the United States.

Arraignment set

Two arraignments are scheduled Dec. 1 in Hancock County Justice Court for suspects arrested in recent, separate cases involving possession of LSD.

Carlson Hazel Stokes, 23, of Valdosta, Ga., was arrested Nov. 1 on Interstate 10 by agents with the Hancock County Narcotics Task Force. Agents seized the car and $701 in cash, and later charged the suspect with possession with intent to distribute 40 single-dose units of LSD, a vial of LSD, and with felony possession of over two ounces of marijuana. The cache has a street value of $1,700. Stokes is out of jail after posting a $25,000 bond.

On Nov. 2, agents stopped Fernando Pablo Gastaldo, 24, of Pasadena, Calif., on Interstate 10. He was charged with possession of five hits of LSD, valued at about $35, and driving with a suspended driver's license. He is out after posting a $6,000 bond.

Thank You for your vote in the primary election and continued support in the Dec. 1 general election.

Waveland Aldermen approves application for drainage grant

BY BETSY GAGNET

The Waveland Board of Aldermen approved an application for a USDA drainage grant which will provide funding to clean out some of the city's natural drains.

Ward 1 Alderman Tommy Longo announced the grant at Monday's workshop meeting, reporting that the total amount approved so far is $30,000 with 75 percent ($22,500) to be paid by the Natural Resource Conservation Service. The other 25 percent ($7,500) will be the responsibility of the city.

Longo said the grant will cover areas from Idlewood to Market Street adding that additional funding may be available as other areas of the city are examined.

In other news from Waveland, the board approved an Interlocal Agreement between Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Hancock County to allow the county to obtain funding for the renourishment of the sand beach that was eroded during Hurricane Georges.

The board approved a proclamation declaring December 13 as the "Christmas Festival of Lights". The Waveland Civic Association will again put on a Christmas parade in conjunction with the festival.

The following action was taken on the recommendations of the Waveland Planning and Zoning Commission:

A minimum lot size variance submitted by Joyce Maggoire in order to create two lots from a parcel of property on Longo Street was approved.

One lot will require a variance of 135 square feet and the other will require a variance of 1,200 square feet.

A request by Patricia Baird for a rear building setback and a side yard building setback was sent back to the Commission for further consideration.

A variance of five feet from the side yard building setback submitted by Joyce Lee on property located on Nicholson Avenue was approved.

A minimum lot size variance of 7,000 square feet submitted by Michael McClure on property in Waveland Terrace Subdivision was denied.

A minimum lot size variance of 4,500 square feet submitted by Dominic Maggio on property on Waveland Avenue was approved.

Fall festival

Seventh and eighth grade students at Bay High School participated in a Fall Festival Friday, Oct. 30. According to organizer-teacher, Monica Reichardt, the festival included a dunking booth, pie throwing, water balloons and candy and cookie sales. There were also exhibits by the American Cancer Society, the Fire Department and Stennis Space Center, as well as instructions in CPR. The festival closed out a month-long "Pennies-for-Pets" campaign to raise funds, food and other items for the local Humane Society. (Echo staff photo by Ed Lepoma)

Rocks edge Tigers 13-10 in nail bitter

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II

On a great night for football, the Brother Philip Memorial Stadium got a game for the ages. It was a game described by Bay High head coach David Baughman as "...a game that neither team deserved to lose."

His words could not have been more true. The Tigers and Rocks strapped it on for their 31st meeting in a rivalry series that dates back to 1948. The Rocks came out victorious in overtime behind the leg of sophomore kicker Taylor LaFontaine's 27 yard field goal.

SSC head coach Dave Kenson stated, "Bay High played extremely hard and they took it right to us. It was one heck of a ballgame. They should be very proud of themselves."

LaFontaine talked about his winning kick, "It is an unbelievable feeling to have the chance to beat your cross-town rival like this. It felt good to help send my team into the playoffs with a win, but I can't take all the credit. We had great blocking on the offensive line and my holder, Brandon Lewis, kept me under control. I didn't look at the kick. I just kept my head down and I knew it was good when I heard the crowd."

With the win the Rocks take a 16-15 lead in the series between the two schools. The Rocks and Tigers enjoyed their most successful year of football since the seasons of 1990 and 1992, respectively.

The Rocks ended the regular season with an overall record of 7-4 and 6-1 in division play. The Tigers finished up 4-7 overall and 2-5 in the division.

The Tigers received the opening kickoff at their own one yardline but the SSC coverage stopped the return at the five yardline.

Rendell Haynes gained 10 yards and a first down for the Tigers on the first carry of the game. Then, the Tigers went to their star running back Tony Benton for five consecutive carries.

Benton was able to break a 16 yard run and gain a first down for Bay High; however, SSC defensive lineman Tom Brennan threw Benton for a loss on three successive carries that forced the Tigers into a punting situation.

After a Steven Boudro punt, the Rocks took over at their own 36 yardline.

Rock signal caller Jason Santiago connected with Cameron Byrne for a six yard gain to start their first series. Kris Cannon carried for nine yards and a Rock first down.

The Bay High defense held the Rocks in check on the next three downs forcing SSC to punt.

The Tigers suffered on their next series as they fumbled on two successive plays. The second fumble was recovered by Tom Brennan on the Tiger 16 yardline.

The Rocks tried to strike quickly with Santiago throwing to Steven Knight in the endzone but Tiger DB Jason McKay was there on the coverage.

Cannon gained seven yards down to put the ball inside the Tiger 10 yardline. Boudro threw Cannon for a loss on the next play and the Rocks lined up for a field goal.

Charles Raymond kicked a 27 yard field goal with :36 left in the first quarter to give the Rocks a 3-0 lead.

Raymond booted the kickoff into the endzone making the Tigers start off from their own 20 yardline.

The Tigers went three and out as the Rocks' graveyard defense stepped up the pressure on the Tiger offense.

Boudro boomed a 50 yard punt for the Tigers and the Rocks started their next series at their own 30 yardline.

The Rocks went back to the air on the first play only to have the pass picked off by Benton at the Tiger 39 yardline.

Bay High was unable to move the ball on the Rocks due to two incomplete passes. The Tigers punted away to SSC.

On SSC's next series, the Rocks put themselves in a hole with an illegal procedure call and had to punt back to the Tigers.

After a 12 yard punt by the Rocks, the Tigers mounted their best drive of the contest behind the running of Benton and Haynes.

With 5:27 left to play in the half, Boudro kicked a 31 yard field goal that split the uprights and tied the score at 3-3.

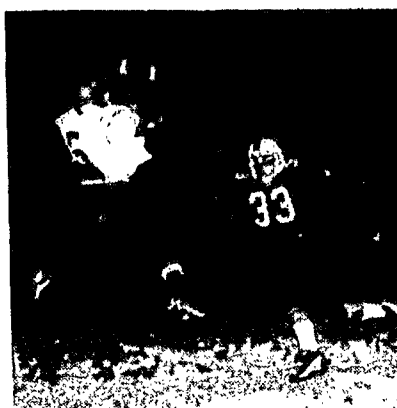

The teams were unable to move the ball and punted away on the next possessions.

The Rocks eventually got the ball back on their own 35 yardline. Santiago went back to the air and was picked off by Boudro at the Rock 39 yardline.

Benton carried twice for the Tigers down to the Rock 31 yardline. With :14 left in the first half, Boudro missed a 48 yard field goal.

SSC got the ball to start the second half. Roger Ridgeway returned the kickoff to the SSC 41 yardline.

Cannon carried for five yards on the first play. The Rocks tried a little trickery with the Tigers and ran a reverse to Knight that was good for seven yards and a first down.

Santiago connected with Knight two plays later for a 35 yard gain down to the Tiger five yardline. On the next play, Cannon scored from five yards out with 7:47 left in the third quarter.

LaFontaine kicked the PAT to make the score 10-3.

The Tigers opened their next possession at the 20 yardline. On the third play of the drive, Benton pulled up for a halfback pass and was picked off by D'mitri Sofianos at the Rock 36 yardline.

SSC couldn't do anything on the offensive side of the ball and had to punt back to the Tigers.

The teams swapped the next two possessions. The Tigers got the ball back on their own 25 yardline.

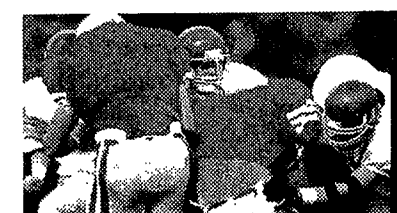

Freshman QB Adam Barrett went to the air and found Benton for a 23 yard gain and a Tiger first down. Two carries by Benton netted the Tigers another six yards.

Barrett went back to the airwaves and was picked off by Michael Dauro at the Rock 41 yardline.

Cannon ripped off a 13 yard run and gained a first down for the Rocks. However, a Rock penalty three plays later forced a punting situation.

The Tigers took over at their own 22 yardline. Bay High gained a first down on a roughing the passer penalty against SSC. However, the Rock defense stepped up their intensity and threw the Tigers for losses

Hawks close with district leader for three quarters

BY DWYANE BREMER

The Hancock Hawks finished their football season Friday night, falling to District 7-4A champs Columbia 56-27, in Columbia.

"I'm a little disappointed in the way we finished the year, our District was very tough, and I'm proud of my kids efforts," said Hawk headcoach Rocky Gaudin.

The Wildcats wasted little time getting things started. After taking the opening kickoff they marched 63 yards on seven plays. Donavon Walker scored the initial touchdown from four yards out, and Michael Bradshaw came on to add the point after, with 8:25 left the Wildcats had a 7-0.

The Hawks moved the football down to the Wildcat 40, but had to punt, and Columbia took over at the 17.

The Wildcats offense went on the attack again, as Walker hit Antoinne Brown for 30 yards. Steve Odem carried for a 10 yard gain, and three plays later Walker scampered outside, and broke free for a 37 yard touchdown run. Bradshaw's extra point attempt was blocked by Desmond Smith, but the Wildcats had a 13-0 lead.

The Hawks took over at their 33 after the kickoff. With starting tailback Darryell Williams, not playing, Hancock turned to Chris Goff to carry the load.

The Hawks moved downfield behind Goff, and on a third and six from the Wildcat 30, Goff took a sweep all the way for a Hawk touchdown. Les Sackett booted the point, and with 7:15 remaining in the half the Hawks had cut the Wildcat lead to 13-7.

The Wildcats quickly struck back to regain control of the game. Brown took the kickoff back 30 yards to the 48. Walker then hit Chris Robbins for 31 yards, to the 17. Walker then called his own number, running for a 17 yard touchdown. Walker then ran three yards for the two point conversion, and the Wildcats now had a 21-7 lead.

Madhava Thigpen took the kickoff back to the 23. The Hawks then went on a 11 play march to reach the Wildcat 8 yard line. The Hawks then scored as Jason Burge hit Goff with a swing pass for the touchdown. Sackett added the point after, and with just 43 seconds left in the half the Hawks moved closer 21-14.

The Wildcats took the kickoff back to the 28. With time running out Walker threw a screen pass to Odem, who broke tackles and rumbled 72 yards for a touchdown. Bradshaw added the point after, and the Wildcats had a 28-14 lead going into the half.

The Hawks took the second half kickoff out to the 35, and proceeded to go on a 12 play scoring drive. Chris Payne had runs of 20, eight, and seven; and Jerry Carco scored the touchdown from one yard out. Sackett added the extra point, and with 6:07 remaining the Hawks only trailed 28-21.

The Hawks got the ball right back, as Trellony Mayfield recovered a fumble, at the Wildcat 37.

The Hawks move down to the one, but the Columbia defense stiffened with a four play goal line stand, taking over at the six with .44 seconds remaining in the third.

The Wildcats then put the game away, as Walker hit Brown down the sideline for a 93 yard touchdown pass. Bradshaw added the point after, and the Wildcats had a 35-21 lead.

The Hawks turned the ball over to the Wildcats, after a fumble at their own 20. The Wildcats needed only one play to score this time, as Odem ran over Hawks on his way to the end zone. Bradshaw's point after made the score 42-21 with 9:22 remaining.

The touchdown party continued for the Wildcats on the Hawks next possession, as Antoinne Brown picked off a Jason Burge pass at the 37, and took it back for another Wildcat score. The point after was good, and with 6:59 remaining the Wildcats extended their lead to 49-21.

The Hawks did manage to get another score, with a five play 67 yard drive that was capped off with a 10 yard touchdown run by Thigpen. The extra point was missed, and the score was 49-27.

The Wildcats would add another late touchdown to finish out the scoring, and running out the clock on a 56-27 victory.

The Hawks finished the season with a 5-5 mark, and 3-4 in District 7-4A.

"I'm going to miss playing football at Hancock, I'm just glad I got to be a part of the team," said senior Billy Baugnerter.

The Hawks lose 10 seniors this year, but Hancock will return several skilled players for the 1999 campaign.

Crabtrap returns to Rocks

The Bay St. Louis Rotary Clubs Crabtrap Trophy was turned over to St. Stanislaus after the edged Bay High Tigers Friday night 13-10 in overtime. The trophy was at Bay High as in 1997 they had defeated the Rocks 28-14. Those in photo are from left, Stanislaus' head coach, Dave Kenson, athletic director Jerry Spell, and defensive coordinator, Stan Dellenger. (Staff photo by Joe Gex) on their next three carries.

Boudro punted from his own 32 yardline down to the Rock 17 where the Rocks muffed the catch and Derl Lang recovered the loose ball.

Haynes carried for 15 yards down to the Rock two yardline. On two successive carries, the Rock defensive line stuffed Benton for no gain. On his third successive carry, Benton broke the plane for a 2 yard score with 2:38 left in the game.

Boudro connected on the PAT and the score was tied 10-10. Ridgeway took the kickoff from his own one yardline and returned it to the Rock 33 yardline.

Santiago connected with Stephen Peterman for a 24 yard gain that came back on a Rock clipping penalty.

The Rocks went to their bag of tricks as Santiago found Knight for a nine yard gain and flipped the ball to Cannon who gained another 18 yards for a Rock first down.

Santiago found Peterman on the sidelines for a 19 yard gain and another Rock first down.

Another Rock penalty negated a 23 yard pass from Santiago to Peterman that would have placed the ball at the Tiger six yardline.

Raymond lined up to kick a 51 yard field goal with :08 left in the game. His kick had the distance but missed wide left.

A classic Rock/Tiger battle moves into overtime.

The Tigers chose offense first and had the ball placed at the Rock 10 yardline.

Benton gained a yard on the first carry of OT. Barrett was sacked for a 13 yard loss by Peterman on the next play.

Haynes picked up 12 yards for the Tigers on the next play but Bay High picked up a personal foul penalty that backed the Tigers up to the 25 yardline.

Boudro's 42 yard field goal attempt was blocked by Dauro.

The Rocks got their turn from the 10 yardline and SSC head coach Dave Kenson wasted no time sending LaFontaine out to attempt a 27 yard field goal. The kick was good by LaFontaine and gave the Rocks a 13-10 victory in the defensive battle between the two rivals.

Bay High head coach David Baughman commented, "The game was a great one. Both teams played well."

"We were proud that we got the game into overtime because SSC was in control. Then, we got the turnover on the punt. But the penalty in overtime made the field goal a lot tougher."

"We had a good week of practice preparing for this game. It is just that both teams played really hard. We probably played our best defensive game of the year. Steven Boudro did a good job of kicking for us tonight. Rendell Haynes made some long runs that got us out of some holes."

"We had a devastating year injury wise but the kids are excited and we have a lot to build on for next year."

"Taylor LaFontaine came in and made a great kick for us. He has improved so much as a kicker but also in his self-esteem and confidence."

Coach Kenson continued, "Playing in this type of game was good for us because the atmosphere was like a playoff game."

Bay High running back Tony Benton was held to just 28 yards rushing on 23 carries while Rendell Haynes picked up 66 yards on 11 carries.

Kris Cannon picked up 115 yards rushing on 25 carries while Jason Santiago completed seven passes in 14 attempts for 82 yards. He also threw two interceptions.

SSC finished second in Division 7 Class 4A and advances to the state playoffs next Friday for the first time since 1990.

The Rocks will travel to Magnolia to play South Pike in the first round. Kickoff is slated for 7:30 pm.

Aggies shutout Pirates 35-0

BY MAURICE SINGLETON

The Pass Christian Pirates football season came to an end on Friday night with a 35-0 shutout homecoming loss to playoff bound Forrest County Agricultural High School.

Pass Christian could not stop a potent Aggies running game that attacked the Pirates between the ends. The visitors scored two touchdowns in each of the first two quarters, taking a 28-0 lead at halftime.

On the other side of the ball, the Pirates offense had trouble putting together a sustained drive. The Pirates picked up only two first downs on the night, one early in the first quarter and the other midway through the fourth quarter.

Offensively, the Aggies utilized the running abilities of four players to punch at the Pirates defense, netting an unofficial 238 yards in the first half. Junior running back David Jackson rushed for 143 yards on the night, 134 yards in the first half, including scoring runs of forty-four yards and thirty-seven yards.

"They came out and did the things they needed to do to win the football game," said Pirates Coach Gavin Lott. "They came at us with three good running backs."

James Guinn, Andy Jessup, Lucas Wilson and quarterback Nate Breland all contributed to the Aggies' running attack. Guinn finished the night with 89 yards, eighty-six of which he picked up in the first half.

Pass action

Pass Christian quarterback #19 Jack Wilson handed off to Rashad Bowser, as he hits the line for two yards in the Pirates 35-0 loss to Forrest County Agricultural High School in Pass stadium Friday. (Photo by Maurice Singleton).

Guinn scored the first touchdown of the night on the Aggies second play from scrimmage on fourth and one.

The Aggies ensuing drive consumed nearly seven minutes off the clock as they picked up three first downs. On a third and two situation, Jackson carried five yards for the score. The point after was good giving the visitors a 21-0 lead with 4:12 remaining in the half.

The two teams exchanged turnovers on the following series. Pirates quarterback Jack Wilson dropped back to pass a 65-yard run off tackle. The point after kick was missed and the Aggies led 6-0.

Jackson's 44-yard touchdown run gave the Aggies a 12-0 lead as the second quarter came to an end. Breland rolled right and completed a pass to Jackson in the end zone for the two-point conversion to increase the lead to 14-0.

Jeffrey May returned the ensuing kickoff seventeen yards to his own 33-yardline. The Pirates picked up nine yards on three plays, leaving them in a punting situation on and fumbled as he got hit. The Aggies recovered and had a first and ten at the Pirates 17 yardline.

Joey Necaise recovered an Aggies fumble two plays later at his own 13 yardline, but the Pirates could not sustain a drive and were forced to punt again. Aggies Brandon Bounds returned the punt eleven yards to the Pirates 37 yardline. Jackson scored his second touchdown of the night on the next play as he broke a tackle at the line of scrimmage and raced thirty-seven yards for the score. Drew Gallant's successful point after kick gave the Aggies a 28-0 lead.

The final score on the night came late in the third quarter as Aggies' Wilson carried ten yards for the score with 2:10 remaining in the period. Gallant's third successful point after kick made the score 35-0.

The win gives Forrest County a 6-4 record for the season. The Aggies travel to Forest High School next Friday night in the first round of the State Class 3A playoffs.

The Pirates finish the season with a record of 2-8.

Stanislaus standout 3-year starter at Moorhead State

Special to the Echo

The end is near, doomsday prophets warn. To Nate Middleton it can only mean one thing: repent (and go long).

Yes, the end is near for Middleton, and the rest of the 13-member senior corps that populates Moorhead State University's current football roster. This week seniors made their final home appearance at Alex Nemzek Stadium, and net weekend Moorhead State writes the final chapter at the NSIC Metrodome Classic in Minneapolis.

Middleton realizes the end of his collegiate football career is at hand, and he's convinced he knows how to put a proper exclamation mark on the 1998 campaign.

"I just like to burn people," said Middleton. "I feel I can outrun any DB in the conference. I always tell coach to let me go deep."

A three-year starter at State, Middleton has caught 36 passes for 667 yards with one touchdown. This season Middleton has five pass receptions for 89 yards, and ranks second in punt returns, 7.0, and kickoff returns, 17.0, as a key player on Dragon special teams.

Last fall Middleton generated 424 all-purpose yards, including a club high 392 yards receiving. He spent his first season as the starting quarterback on the Dragon junior varsity and was voted the Most Valuable Freshman in 1995.

Some recruiting persistence, and a touch of serendipity, brought Middleton from the shores of Bay St. Louis to the plains of the Red River Valley.

"I filled out a questionnaire in high school and mailed it back, and the (MSU) coaches called up real quick," Middleton remembers.

"We kept talking, and later I came up for a visit and liked the environment."

Middleton doesn't regret his choice, but there have been adjustments to work through.

"The only second thoughts I have was the transition from quarterback to wide receiver. It hasn't really fulfilled what I wanted to accomplish. (Quarterback) was always my first love. I have always been accustomed to being around the ball, and making things happen. As wide receiver I seem so far away."

A football and basketball captain at St. Stanislaus High School, Middleton was named to all-coast and all-district honor teams for three years and was a finalist for the Wendy's High School Heisman contest. He was also elected vice-president of the National Honor Society.

Academics remain high on Middleton's list of priorities at Moorhead State.

"I plan to graduate next year with a degree in fitness/sports science, and I also want to get a coaching minor and a business administration minor. I should be graduating next December. Right now I'm looking at becoming a personal trainer or a strength coach."

Post-graduate education is very much in Middleton's plans as well. "Next December I should graduate, and my options are Wisconsin-LaCrosse or St. Cloud State."

While Middleton believes Moorhead State has been a good fit, the South is still on his mind.

"I miss home, and I was really disappointed my mom hasn't been able to come up this year. She had made plans to come, but the (Northwest) airlines strike messed them up. I'm really looking forward to going home for Christmas."

Adjustments off the field have

A good performance is worth cost of admission

Whether you're a football fanatic, movie maniac or ballet buff, you're probably willing to pay the cost of admission to enjoy a good performance. So why do people think they can experience great investment performance without an admission ticket?

Newsletters, magazines and advertising continue to tout no-load mutual funds. But they don't say the investment is without cost — just without commission. Since you get neither a registered professional to help you select an appropriate investment, nor personal service thereafter, there's no charge for it. That's the only free part.

However, all mutual funds have ongoing expenses, which take away from your return. For example, for long-term investors (which every mutual fund investor should be), a no-commission fund with a 1.5 percent annual fee can prove more expensive than a load fund charging 5 percent up front but with annual fees of 1 percent or less.

Perhaps even more notable is the fact that investors who buy no-load funds tend to bounce around between funds and bail out during tough times. They're also less likely to be there when the market recovers. These factors reduce their returns further.

Investors who pay for an admission ticket, however, are more likely to stay for the whole show. They don't panic as easily, because they have help to navigate through downturns. And the result of their long-term focus is that they enjoy a better performance.

At one time, several mutual funds offered an up-front commission-heavy contractual plan, structured for people who didn't have large sums but could make regular, small investments. Most of the total commission was paid the first year, and the remaining 10 or 15 years of the contract were virtually commission-free.

Very few people, if any, didn't complete their plan. They paid the price of a ticket and stayed for the whole show. The best part is, these small investors did exceptionally well.

Your chances of getting the most from your investments are much greater if you have help from a professional. Just ask anyone who paid a commission and stuck with their investment how they feel about paying for good professional advice.

Don't miss a hit performance because you won't buy a ticket.

Bay accident claims Long Beach boy

BY ED LEPOMA

A nine-year-old Long Beach boy died from injuries received in a Tuesday afternoon car collision near the west end of the Bay St. Louis bridge.

Bay Police Department Detective Tom Burleson identified the victim as Robert Ward. He was a passenger in a car driven by his mother, Melissa Ward, 32.

According to Burleson, Ward was westbound on U.S. 90 around 3:20 p.m. at a traffic signal at the foot of the bridge and turned south onto Beach Boulevard when her vehicle was struck broadside by an eastbound van.

The driver of the van was identified as Diana Nguyen, 17, of Pass Christian. Burleson said no charges have been filed, but an investigation is continuing.

The van also struck a truck driven by James Currie, 51, of Pass Christian that was preparing to turn off Beach Boulevard into the eastbound lane of U.S. 90, Burleson said.

The Wards were taken to Hancock Medical Center. Mrs. Ward was treated and released, but Robert was transferred to Tulane Medical Center in New Orleans, where he later died of his injuries.

been another hurdle for Middleton as well, especially the cuisine and the weather.

"We have some of the best food back home, and I miss the Creole food and the seafood mixes," admitted Middleton. "The food here is more bland and dry-tasting, and the spices are totally different."

Middleton is less than thrilled with the northern winters as well.

"I just tolerate it, I don't really get used to it, and I don't like to be outside in it."

When the gales of November come early, Middleton can ignore winter's siren song when Moorhead State and UM Duluth stage a rematch at the Metrodome in Minneapolis.

"I always liked playing in the Metrodome," said Middleton. "We get to show our stuff to a different crowd, plus we get to play UMD. I'd just like to crush them."

Not exactly Southern hospitality, but it works for Middleton.

Cleanup — first phase nearly completed job is complete, according to the mayor. The majority of the cost of the cleanup will be paid by the Federal Emergency Management Administration and the state's counterpart.

Campton said a final inspection will be made Monday, and he advises residents who still have tree limbs and leaves that need to be picked up to put the remaining debris out this weekend.

In other hurricane-related expenditures, Aldermen approved amending an existing contract with Ladner Construction of Pass Christian for additional work needed to repair damage to the small-craft harbor resulting from Hurricane Georges. The additional repairs will cost $13,603, and the city is also hoping to get reimbursed for the emergency work.

Aldermen also approved partial payment of $41,040 to Professional Construction Services of Pearlinton, which is nearly finished redecking of the fishing pier at the harbor. The total contract is $45,600, and the firm will be paid the remainder of $4,560 upon completion.

Wallop-Breaux funds distributed through the Department of Marine Resources were awarded to the city, so it would not have to dip into existing Tidelands funds.

In other business, Aldermen approved plans to buy six new patrol cars for the police force. Total cost for four Ford Crown Victoria cruisers and two Ford Tauruses was $117,921.

The Police Department currently has 15 vehicles, and the vehicles that will be replaced will be serviced and made available to the Police Auxiliary. Aldermen also approved spending $14,709 to purchase a new Dodge Dakota Club Cab pickup for the Public Works Department.

At the beginning of the Wednesday night meeting when the public is allowed comment, Randall Jones addressed the mayor and Aldermen, and disclosed that developers who have purchased the Stuffed Shirt Factory Outlet shop downtown have offered a building at the northeast corner of Market and Fleitas to the local Boy Scout Troop.

Jones said plans were to move it to that portion of War Memorial Park where the Boy Scout hut is now located, but the city has plans to use some of that space for construction of a new recreation department building.

He said the alternative would be to move the building to land the troop owns near the foot of North Street and Menge Avenue, but that would be expensive.

McDonald told Jones to tell developers the scouts wanted the building, and to await a recommendation of a newly formed city Pee Wee Football Committee.

Aldermen approved the members and terms of residents selected to serve on that advisory committee. Michael McKay and Bob Sellers will serve three year terms; Robert Bentz and Karen Isabelle, two-year terms; and Irvin Hall (the city Recreation Director) a one-year term.

Before adjourning, aldermen also approved payment of $83,856 to U.S. Tank Company, the firm that is repainting the city's two elevated water towers. Funds for the $96,650 project are coming from a low-interest loan through the state Department of Economic and Community Development.

In other matters, the board met in executive session with the Board of Supervisors to discuss a legal issue. It was reported that no action was taken on the issue.

An additional executive session was held to discuss student expulsion matters. As a result the board reinstated four students to the high school on Step 4 probation and referred another student to the alternalocating a landfill on their 700-acre tract. The site is in Hancock County, but a little more than a mile from the border of Pearl River County, and accessible via Hwy. 607 and Flat Top Road.

Both developers have options on the land, and propose to purchase the property, construct a rubbish site and landfill, and operate the facilities. In return, they have both agreed to low fees over a 20-year initial term to handle Hancock County's household garbage, but both contend they will need to take garbage from other counties and municipalities to make the venture profitable.

Opposition has arisen to both locations from some Hancock and some Pearl River County residents.

In related news, last week a group of citizens led by former state Sen. Margaret "Wootsie" Tate filed a Chancery Court suit against an already-approved expansion of Central Landfill in Millard in Pearl River County.

Tate was at Wednesday's meeting, but tired of the lengthy session, and left Authority members with a copy of an article, claiming that landfill leak.

The Pearl River supervisors, by a 3-2 vote approved the 80-acre expansion at Millard, but the citizens group wants a judge to order the Pearl River board of Supervisors to rescind that decision.

Veteran's Day Celebration

WWII military exhibit opens at Depot

BY MIKE CUEVAS AND
B.R. HAWKINS

The City of Bay St. Louis will host a World War II military memorabilia exhibit at the historic Depot beginning Wednesday, Nov. 11 with an opening reception for veterans of all wars and all services from 7-9 p.m.

Thursday and Friday the exhibit will be open for student review by appointment. Each Bay St. Louis school has been invited to have their sixth, eighth and 10th grade students attend. The eight available slots will be filled on a first-come, first-served basis. Schools may book a slot by contacting Mike Cuevas at 463-7120.

The exhibit will be open to the public Saturday, Nov. 14 from 10 a.m.-6 p.m. A USO-style dance, hosted by the city on the grounds of the Depot, will begin at 7 p.m. featuring a Red Cross canteen serving coffee, hot chocolate and donuts.

Hancock Medical Center physical therapist, Matt Johns will mix and donate music reminiscent of the period for the dance.

Exchange Club members will operate the Red Cross canteen.

The Hancock County Historical Society will be on hand to video-tape interviews with exhibit visitors and dance guests who were in WWII or were in the Bay St. Louis area during the War.

"We are expecting J.C. Baxter, who was a prisoner of war in the Pacific theatre to be on hand with us Saturday," said Bay St. Louis Cultural Affairs Director Mike Cuevas. "We expect him to share with us some of his memorabilia and stories."

The exhibit features the member collections of the Gulf South Military Collectible Club. This group of military history enthusiasts formed their organization in 1996.

It engages in community activities that promote the preservation of military history by sharing their collections for exhibits, supporting local museums and developing programs that share the knowledge and history of the era where members have dedicated their lives in collecting and thus preserving its spot in history.

Highlights of the exhibit include live models and mannequins that showcase the uniforms of all the services, complete with field gear for many of the uniforms. Weapons, handbooks, field rations, and other supplies will be presented.

Camping equipment, jeeps, deactivated weapons, photographs, significant front page news articles, postcards and advertising memorabilia will also be displayed.

A complete collection of military medals awarded during this time of conflict will also be on hand.

All events are free to the public, but donations will be accepted to help defray expenses for the exhibit.

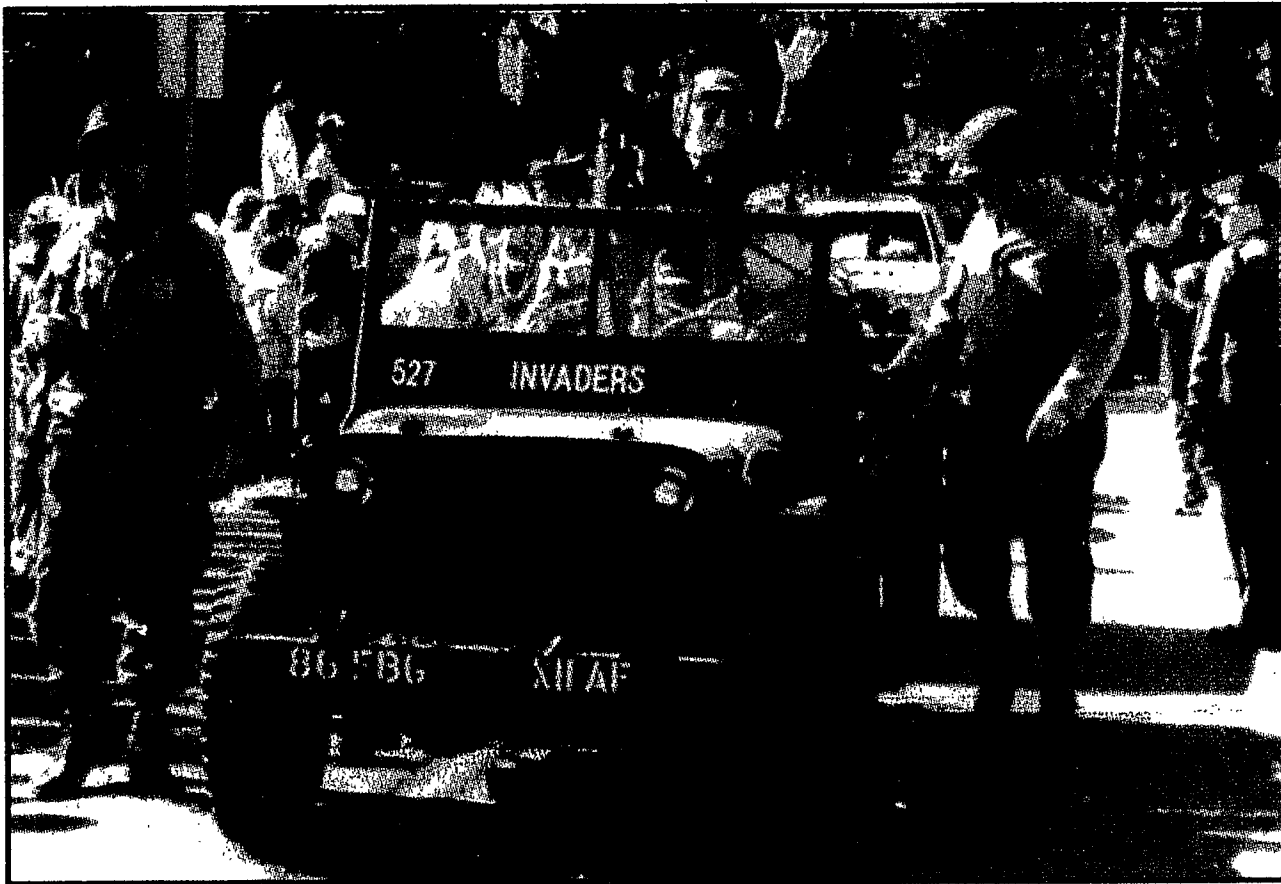

"I hope that everyone in Bay St. Louis will make the effort to see the exhibit and bring their families. We have to continue to learn about the heroic contributions of our military services that have allowed Bay St. Louis to prosper and grow as 'A Place Apart,'" said Mayor Eddie Favre.

The exhibit is presented by the Department of Administration, Division of Cultural Affairs, Robert J. Parker, director.

Just like the movies

Women in service

Portion of the exhibit features various uniforms worn by women in service.

Medals

Fundraisers

Larry, Moe and Curly

Ken Snider, Chuckie the Dummy and Doug Mansfield participated in events for the 8th Air Force in April this year.

Mississippi gardeners love Japanese Maples

By Norman Winter
Horticulturist
Central Mississippi Research and Extension Center

Brookhaven, Miss., is known far and wide as home to great camellias and to highly respected camellia gardeners, but on a recent trip, it was not the camellias that caught my attention but Japanese Maples. Some of the most beautiful and healthy maples I have ever seen were in those gardens. I am a believer in Japanese maples and have grown some myself, but there is much mystery to this group of plants. These small trees are brilliant in the spring with new red color followed by exotic foliage throughout the summer and many with a fall blaze of crimson, orange yellow.

While the Japanese maple can be used as a bonsai, small tub planting, awesome accent or artistically grouped, there are hundreds (if not thousands) of selections which most of us know little about.

The Japanese maple is known botanically as acer palmatum. Our native red maple is acer rubrum. Nurserymen usually think of the Japanese maple as in two groups: non-dissected leafed and dissected-leafed.

Japanese maples can be grouped by three types: uprights, laceleafs and bush-dwarf types. Among the uprights are the linearilobums with long, narrow lobes on each leaf. The dissectums are laceleafs with pinnately dissected leaves. The growth habit of the laceleaf types is usually cascading or weeping. The bush-dwarf group includes maples that are slower-growing and bushy.

Popular cultivars in the non-dissected group are Bloodgood, Oshu beni and Senaki. Some of those in the dissected group are Crimson Queen, Ever Red and Tamukayama.

SOUTHERN GARDENING

Mississippi is fortunate to be able to grow the Japanese maple. They prefer well drained, moist, slightly acidic soils. I like them best with morning sun and afternoon shade or in areas of dappled light. Even though I have seen gorgeous specimen in Poplarville's full sun, I still recommend some shade.

Supplemental water during the summer goes a long way to preventing the scorching of the leaves. They take 10 years to reach 15 feet. Oldest plantings of Japanese maples in the United States find some in the 50-foot range.

Those in the dissectum group have more of a layered, mushroom shape in the garden and their heights are usually much shorter.

Newly leafed out Japanese maples are gorgeous in early spring combined with azaleas, dogwoods and Louisiana phlox. They are also exceptional in rock gardens and worked in combination plantings with full size and dwarf conifers like the chamaecyparis Crippsii.

The slow growth rate, coupled with the many groups, sub-species and cultivars intimidate many, making it hard to start an evaluation program. The Missouri Botanical Garden in St. Louis has one of the best collections and is well worth the trip.

After going to Brookhaven, I just wonder if Mississippi might have quite a collection, but in different gardeners' yards? Help me start a list. If you have a Japanese maple that you are positive of the identification, drop me a note of the name of the Japanese maple as well as your name and address. If you don't have a Japanese maple, get one or two.

Forestry project earns national recognition

A Mississippi Delta location, known as the Sharkey Restoration Site, has earned an award for public awareness from the U.S. Department of Agriculture Forest Service program.

The 1997 Taking Wing Award for Public Awareness went to the project, which is a comparison of bottomland hardwood restoration techniques taking place in the Yazoo National Wildlife Refuge in Sharkey County. Dr. Stephen Schoenholtz, associate profesor of forestry at Mississippi State University, also received a certificate of appreciation for his work with the project.

The Sharkey project is a joint effort by MSU, the USDA Forest Service, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, and several area industries. The project, which began in 1995, tests four reforestation methods. Annual survival and tree growth are being monitored in all methods.

The "WORD" for the Week

Dennis J. Prutow, Box 303, Sterling, KS 67579

Conscience is a spiritual organ. When we do something right, we feel good. When we do something wrong, we feel bad. It's not very complicated. A problem intervenes. Conscience becomes dulled and seared. It does not operate properly.

The Christian faith has to do with conscience. "The goal of our instruction is love from a pure heart and a good conscience and a sincere faith" (1 Timothy 1:5).

To have a good conscience we must be cleansed through faith in the sacrifice of Christ in payment for personal sins and personal sinfulness. Hebrews 9:14 asks, "How much more will the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered Himself without blemish to God, cleanse your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?"

Once your conscience is clear through faith in Christ, you need to "keep a good conscience" (1 Peter 3:16). How do you do this? You must live appropriately. This means learning God's ways. Jesus says, "If you love Me, you will keep My commandments" (John 14:15). So we must read the Bible and follow Christ.

Keep a good conscience

If we fail, which we will do, and feel bad, we must again flee to Christ. Here is the promise. "If we confess our sins, He is faithful and righteous to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness" (1 John 1:9).

Whatever Works For You

When a man and a woman marry, their lives change and they must begin working as a team to make their marriage successful. No two marriages are the same and each one is unique in its own way. Each couple must determine what is right for them. God wants us to be happy and successful in married life, and the Bible is there as a guide to help make marriage work. Loving each other, being patient, kind, and considerate, and always wanting what is best for your marriage will help to bond a couple together. Your spouse should not only be your helpmate and companion, but also a true friend whom you can depend on and confide in whenever you need support. God has called us to live in peace with love and understanding. Praying together and staying together through good times and bad builds character and strengthens marriages.

Therefore a man leaves his father and his mother and cleaves to his wife, and they become one flesh.

Silver Scream, the musical, staged at Biloxi Saenger

First Day Theatre announces the fourth annual JAMO production of the original musical Silver Scream, a spoof on the old horror movies with characters ranging from Nosferatu to the Brides of Dracula to Wolfman to Vampira to the maniacal chain-saw massacre murderer.

Performances are Friday and Saturday, Nov. 13 and 14, 8 p.m. and Sunday, Nov. 15, 2 p.m. at the Biloxi Saenger.

Ticket prices are adults $12, students and seniors $9, and children 12 and under $5. Group rates are available. Charge tickets by calling 872-0504. All seating is general admission.

The original dates had been scheduled for the weekend of Halloween, but damage from Georges to the Saenger caused performance postponement.

The story concerns George and Tobe (Chris Fain and Patrick Dugger) who find themselves inside a horror movie after Dracula (Chet Landry) has enticed Tobe's young sister, Shelley (Jacqueline Coale), to his castle through the movie screen.

The boys encounter several monsters of classic horror films, escaping them and hoping to save Shelley from the horrifying creatures roaming Dracula's castle.

Parody musical numbers consisting of movement and dance have entertained large audiences with Dracula in "Children of the Night," witches cackling over a cauldron of children, Wolfman "Baying the Silver Screen," "I Love You to Pieces" by Dr. Frankenstein and the monster with the Bride of Frankenstein, and the Zombies in "Tonight We Live" tormenting George and Tobe while the sister is captured again and again.

Original music by James M. Taylor with lyrics and story by Jimmy-O. This musical is currently being produced in Baltimore by JAMO Productions East and has become an annual event for the participating Gulf Coast youth with their family members as well as many theatre-goers from the region.

Silver Screen is the third production this fall season for First Day Theatre with the previous shows, "The Compleat Works of Wilm Shksp" and "The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe," Nov.

18, performed by the New Orleans professional theatre company Chase Productions.

The 1999 season will include JAMO's "The Milky Way, Mars and Other Candy Bars" and "Hooked on Books" performed by the professional Family Goose troupe from Hollywood, Fla. in February and March, respectively.

Productions for youth are also planned for April, in the summer and with repeat performances of the Shakespeare show in the fall of 1999 at the Biloxi Saenger.

Smoky Mountain lights celebration kicks off Nov. 11 in Gatlinburg

The mountain village of Gatlinburg, Tenn. at the entrance of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park, transforms itself into a delightful and magically illuminated festival for the winter season.

You'll be greeted warmly by the city's mascot of the lighting festival, the "Gatlinbear."

"The Gatlinbear is a way for us to introduce the black bear from the Great Smoky Mountains in a friendly way and welcome our visitors to Gatlinburg," said Paul L. Comer Jr.,

executive director of the Gatlinburg Department of Tourism.

As part of the Sevier County celebration of Winterfest, the Gatlinburg Smoky Mountain Lights "flips the switch" and turns on the lights on a host of fun activities for the family.

The Smoky Mountain Lights features displays standing 20 to 60 feet in height with animation added for dramatic flair. Each display is custom designed for the city and brings back the history of the area in lights.

The festivities begin with the annual Chili Cook-off Nov. 11 at 4 p.m. Teams of "chili specialists" concoct their own hot and spicy recipes. Entertainment includes a trip through the '50s with a tribute to the Coasters.

The lighting ceremony begins at 6:15 p.m. Nov. 11. A special open-air trolley takes you around the town for a tour of the light show. The trolley tour starts at Ogle Cabin at traffic light #6 in downtown Gatlinburg.

The tours run 6 p.m. and again at 8:30 p.m. and last about an hour. Cost is $4 for adults, and children under 11 ride free.

The trolley tours run daily from Nov. 11 through all of December (excluding Thanksgiving, Dec. 4, 24 and 25) then Saturdays only in January. Tickets can be purchased from 5-8 p.m. daily at the Ogle Cabin. Nostalgic hayrides amble through the streets every Sunday to Thursday through Nov. 19 with a special Thanksgiving week schedule of Nov. 23-25.

The pick-up point is located behind the Mountain Mall on River Road in front of the River Terrace Motel.

Rides leave every 15-20 minutes and cost $2 per person. For information, call 1-800-267-7088

Diamondhead performance set tonight

New Orleans' Connie Jones and the Crescent City Band will tonight, Sunday, Nov. 8, 7 p.m. in the Diamondhead Community Church.

The concert is sponsored by the Diamondhead Performing Arts Society. Tickets are $15 for adults and $3.50 for students at the door.

Mad Potters Ball planned for Nov. 14

The George E. Ohr Arts & Cultural Center now has tickets available for its fifth annual Mad Potters Ball — Rockin' With George!

Back by popular demand, it's all the original members of the Rockin' Rebels coming together for an encore performance in honor of Ohr. When asked to participate in the popular annual fund raiser for the Ohr Center, Gerald Blessey responded, "The Rockin' Rebels entertained guests from all over the country at the Ohr Centers' grand opening and would be proud to bring the group back together to do it again."

There will also be a live and silent auction with entries from established local, regional and international artists. In addition to art, guests may also bid on several donations from local businesses.

"The Diner" will be serving scrumptious eats with a flare from the 50's, all provided by Casino Magic. A variety of beers and wines will be available for those who remember the good ol' days, its Root Beer Floats and Orange Nehi.
